TELL US SOMETHING GOOD

“Lift My Eyes” is a really special project for our team and for me personally. It was so awesome for our team of worship leaders to come around the vision of our pastor and create a grouping of songs for our people to sing. When I think about leading worship and writing songs, I think about the phrase “lift your eyes up.” It reminds me of Psalm 121:1-2 which says, “I lift up my eyes to the hills. From where does my help come? My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth.” There’s something about a song that helps us get our eyes off of what’s in front of us and up to the Lord. In a world where so many of us live in fear of the giants that stand in front of us, whether that be pain from our past, a traumatic family circumstance or a sin that feels suffocating, God is calling us to lift our eyes to see and believe that He is bigger. So our prayer for you is that as you listen to and sing these songs, God would touch down in your life and remind you that He is bigger and stronger than whatever is in front of you. As you lift your eyes to our King, may His peace and steadfast presence comfort you even in the darkest of days.

George Hornok, High School Worship Pastor

Larry Sweeney has suffered from kidney disease for years but, after a fall at home in 2017, was required to go on dialysis. Since then, he has been waiting to find a kidney match either by way of a living donor volunteer or a deceased donor volunteer. I recently had the opportunity to sit with Larry and ask him a few questions about what it’s like to wait on God for an answer to an overwhelmingly present need. His answers, I think, will encourage you no matter what you, yourself, are waiting for with God.

Q: What do you think you know about God going through this experience that maybe you hadn’t experienced of Him before?

A: I know that God is on His throne. I know from having finished the study in Revelation with the Men’s Ministry a year ago that God’s got this, He’s in charge. This is a temporary situation. And, as long as you have the fundamental belief and knowledge of what God did in reaching down to us by His Son Jesus Christ, nothing overshadows that. Sometimes it’s difficult to keep that perspective because you don’t feel it, but feeling isn’t everything. Feelings are false. Feelings are what the world does to you. You just have to keep falling back on your confidence and that confidence is that someday I will be with Him in glory. Whether it’s a year (it’s been almost three now), another three or the rest of my life [that I wait for a kidney]. I could never get a kidney. You have to face those types of issues. I may never get that type of cure, but I am ultimately going to be healed.

Caitlin Rodgers

Imagine a room of more than 270 middle schoolers worshipping Jesus, leaders and students having deep one-on-one conversations, and middle schoolers getting the truth about their identity and sexual integrity. That’s what you get at Middle School Ministry’s Winter Camp. As a staff member, this has become one of my favorite events. From the moment students get off the bus, everything is intentional. I’ve seen God move in big ways each time I have been on the trip. Getting to sit down with a group of middle school girls who are wrestling with where the world is telling them to place their identity and then be able to tell them that their worth and value simply exist because they are created in the image of God is one of my favorite moments. To see God move in the hearts of my girls and watch the students I’ve walked alongside all year grasp what it means to be daughters and sons of the King is such a rewarding part of the weekend. It’s such a privilege to get to walk alongside students and watch the ways the Lord moves in their lives during Winter Camp.

Murder, rape, civil unrest, war, insurrection. Sound familiar? It should. But these headlines aren't from CNN, Fox News or MSNBC. They're from the land of Canaan nearly 3,400 years ago. And they present a dark portrait of what happens when God's people leave God out of the picture. It ain't pretty, but it is highly instructive. And while we can learn a lot from watching God's chosen people choose to take Him for granted, the greatest lesson this book has to offer is that sin reigns whenever we refuse to let God rule. Join us for our spring study, "When Judges Ruled and Sin Reigned: Life Lessons from the Book of Judges." If you would like to know God more or are looking for a way to find fellowship, Band of Brothers is an awesome place to start. Visit www.cbcfamily.org/men to sign up. Questions? SIDE BY SIDE

FW WC SC

We can be easily influenced to live our lives guided by the culture. For many women, the result is that the culture becomes our primary mentor. Our Side By Side ministry provides an opportunity to be paired with a wonderful woman who can share her life experiences alongside biblical truth. For more information, contact Summer Jones at Summer_H_Jones@hotmail.com (Fort Worth); Kim Hare at Kimberlyjhare@gmail.com

(West Campus); or Christina Sandra at ChristinaS@christchapelbc.org (South Campus).
